The Event of To-Day.

The meeting of citizens to-day will be one of great importance to the people of Los Angeles valley. It will be the initiatory step towards building the Los Angeles and Independence Railroad, or it will indicate an unwillingness on the part of our people to embark in the enterprise, and thus drive the first nail in the coffin of the dead scheme. If it is decided to comwe undertake, we shall give the world insure cheap transportation. assurance that Los Angeles is destined to be a wealthy and populous city, and Los Angeles valley a broad vista dotted with garden homes. If the effort to-day is no effort at all, we could not more publicly advertise our lackenergy disposition, nor do more to convince the tide of immigration now setting so strong towards us, that we are not ambitious of being a city, that we do not care to fill our valley with a happy and prosperous population, and that we have no disposition to encourage immigration, nor do we desire to have our country filled with industrious men and women. Once more we repeat that we must build this railroad if we would secure the immense trade of the rich and extentensive mining region to the west of us. Once more we repeat that we must build this road if we would retain that portion of the mining trade we now enjoy. Other channels are opening and the Panamint trade will be turned through them unless we bestir ourselves. Our natural advantages are great but the energy of other localities will destroy them unless we defend what God has given us with the industry and enterprise of men. The advantages which a road to Panamint will give us will be great, but in reality these will be nothing compared with what we shall ultimately gain by this road. We assume that it will not terminate where we now make its terminus on paper. This road must go on northeastward until it reaches

Chicago ... This shows a great saving in travel for Eastern invalids and farmers to reach this valley-the saving of 690 miles of actual distance and the additional saving of 3,090 feet vertical elevation which takes the weary traveler through the regions of perpetual snows. From Point of Rocks upon the Mojave, the Utah connection bears off in a northeasterly direction. About 190 miles from Point of Rocks Callerillo is reached, at the junction of the Rio Virgin and the Colorado rivers. This is a point of great importance as the proposed narrow-gauge road from Elko on the Central Pacific Railroad, passing through White Pine, Pioche and other rich mining regions, is bound to connect with the Utah Southern Railroad at this place, the of no alternative route. The newly proposed line, which is to steal our trade away, via Bakersfield, Havilah and Walker's Pass, gives the following ducts reach the port of San Francisco, and large quantities of goods are conveyed to the interior. The channels of both these streams are narrow and tortuous, and in many places shallow. Twenty years ago no difficulty was encountered in navigating them with beats of a size which now cannot reach either Stockton or Sacramento. The miners washed the mountains into the river beds and filled them up. Feather river, which up to 1850 was a deep, clear stream, with high banks, is now a shallow, turbid creek flowing almost on a level with the surface of the valley. The miners filled its bed with tailing. But the placer mines are almost exhausted and the mountains are no longer tumbled into the river. A New Dodge.

We notice that the Express comes out as an advocate for the scheme to break up the contract between the people and the railroad company, by which the city will secure a larger and more commodious depot, on land selected by the Common Council. Simultaneous with the ring organ's espousal of their side of the question, comes the rumor that there is a purpose in the attempt to prevent the removal of the depot, of which the people are not informed. The ostensible excuse for the non-removal of the depot is that the one now occupied is sufficiently commodious to meet the demands of trade for a year or two and that a depot on the site selected by the Council will be out of the way at this time; but the real purpose is to break up the contract into which the Council and the railroad company have entered and release the company from its agreement to erect new buildings on the stipulated site; but when a new depot must be had, it will be located on the other side of the river, at or near the company's workshops. Parties who do not want the depot moved now, will, when the present arrangement is broken off, clamor loudly to have the depot buildings located on the other side of the river. This is the cat in the meal tub indicated by the Express when it set forth "arguments" why the depot should remain where it is at pres-Salt Lake. The advantages of such a ent. We once knew a man who set out to write a book entitled "Pedagogues who have Flogged Me." That book contained some of the liveliest recollections of his life. Time, with all-effacing sponge, had rubbed out every remembrance of the "sums" he used to labor through; his history lessons had retreated into the dim past, until they mingled themselves with fable and tradition, in unresolvable nebulæ; his spelling-book had been thrown to the oats and the owl, and he could no lontopography of the country admitting ger stand up against "sibyl" and surnumerous floggings remained. But, after a while, he began to grow nervous, and before he had finished a hundred pages he was an acute sufferer. He could feel the old welts rising again on his back in one vast smarting, tingling, throbbing net-work of rawness. Broad blisters actually came out on the palms of his hands. Several times he upset the table and spilled the ink over his manuscript by suddenly jerking up his knees, as if somebody with a lash had cut at his bare ankles from behind. He could never hear a step beside him without involuntarily dodging his good or much harm to Los Angeles | head and protecting it with his raised elbow. The strain upon his nervous system became too great, and he was obliged to desist. The manuscript is like the window in Aladdin's palaceno mortal man can ever finish it.

Beecher-Moulton-Titton Litigation. NEW YORK, December 1st.-The efforts of Beecher's counsel to postpone Tilton's case against him, are not only for the purpose of compelling the bill of particulars that will help the defense, but to prove the negative, which is necessary to his perfect triumph, by also compelling them to try first the case of Moulton, on Miss Proc-tor's suit for libel, in which case both Beecher and Mrs. Tilton can testify, as a witness against Beecher, hence the Tilton party are energetic in counsel in yesterday's discussion go far to antidote Tilten's charge of desire to evade a trial, and are satisfying the public that as prudent advisers, his counsel have not the right to omit any safeguards in dealing with unscrupulous men.

MEMPHIS, December 9th.-The Presidents of the various colored societies of this city have organized a society called Knights of the Brotherhood and Monumental Association, the object of which, as set forth in a lengthy address to the colored people published this morning, is to discard all old political ties and cultivate and maintain peace with the white people of the South. In the preamble and resolutions they say:

"We are fully aroused to the consciousness that we have been for years the dupes of crafty, designing and unprincipled men, whose only object was their own personal aggrandizement, irrespective of the means or results to our injury. They have shorn us of our pecuniary accumulations—the result of many years' toil, even to penuryaccumulated by our youth and little fleglings. All this we could bear, but they have left us despised by our own only true friends, through their knavfalsehoods. Our experience in this

The Escape of Granice.

MERCED, December 8th.-The escape of Grance from the authorities has created an immense excitement. The country for miles around is being searched. Large numbers of citizens have been out all day, but owing to the dense fog which hangs over the valley there is little or no prospect of his recapture until he is driven by hunger and privation to seek shelter in some farm-house. The Sheriff has ust returned from a hunt, and states that the fog is so dense that one can scarcely see ten feet. The fields are scattered over with determined men after the murderer, and it seems that escape is impossible.

Mr. P. Lunney has sold his well known grocery and liquor store on Main street, below Court, to Messrs. Tobin & Goodwin. The new firm have abundance of enterprise and will sustain the good reputation which the establishment has heretofore secured.

D. P. Carr, for a time editor and business manager of the Panamint News, has absconded with all the funds of the concern which he could collect, leaving tesides a landlord and washwoman to mourn his loss. The News comes out with a wrathy editorial de-nouncing the rascal and warning the public to beware of him.

The Enterprise of the 10th gives the following report of the shipping business at Wilmington during the week: Four steamers and a number of sail vessels have discharged their freights. The travel also continues very large. There have been 400 passengers and 1,200 tons of freight landed.

Every public-spirited citizen should attend the mass meeting to be held at the Court House at 2 o'clock this afternoon for the furtherance of the Independence Railroad project. The meeting will be addressed by some of the most prominent men of Los Angeles, San Bernardino and Inyo counties and Mr. Crawford will exhibit maps and give explanations regarding the proposed line.

He was the last man that we would have suspected of such a thing; but he has "done gone and done it." At the residence of Dr. MacDougall, on Thursday evening, Mr. Sidney Lacey was married to Miss Concepcion Williams, both of this city. Mr. Lacey is one of the most popular young merchants of Los Angeles, and the bride no less a favorite in social circles and highly connected. The HERALD is under obligations for wine and wedding cake. ding cake.

The demand for business houses in Los Angeles is greater than ever before known. Eligible locations are scarcely to be had at all and when a new building is erected or an old one vacated the store-rooms are engaged months before. Mr. Temple's new building adjoining the HERALD office was leased as soon as the plans were drawn; also, Mr. Ducommon's building on the corner of Main and Commercial streets, now in course of erecmercial streets, now in course of erection. Many firms have taken stands in out-of-the-way places and await an in out-of-the-way places and await and out-of-the-way places and await an in out-of-the-way places and await and out-of-the-way places and out-of-the-way pla opportunity to remove to a main street as soon as a room can be se-We believe that if twenty business houses could be erected here this Winter in good locations, they would all find ready occupants. New Wharf at Wilmington.

We are looking for work to begin every day on the new wharf. The machinery, material and men, we believe, are on hand, and the arrangements are nearly perfected. The new wharf will be a continuation of the whatf will be a continuation of the old one, about a thousand feet westward along the channel. The Los Angeles and Pacific Railway.

A meeting of the Directors of our latest formed railroad project was held on Thursday evening. The matter was thoroughly canvassed and made to assume a tangible shape which points strongly to its speedy execution. The proposed railroad is to run from Los Angeles, through the Centinella Rancho, to the nearest point on the coast, a distance of twelve miles. It is claimed that this will be two miles shorter than the proposed "Shoo Fly" route and will also reach a point on the coast much better adapted to the construction of a wharf and the accommodation of shipping. The capital stock of the comyany is fixed at $500,000; but $100,000 is deemed sufficient to construct the road and wharf. The latter sum only will be collected on the stock. The plan of building the road is that recommended by Engineer Crawford for the Los Angeles and Independence Railfeet apart, mortised to receive a stringer six by eight inches, laid flatwise and securely spliced and pinned to a broad tie under each joint. These stringers will be covered with heavy strap-iron and the whole buried, so that the top or rail surface will be slightly raised above the back-filling. Such a road-bed, in Mr. Crawford's opinion, would rot out long defore it would wear out, and it would last as long as ordinary railroad ties and could be readily to operate the road with light rolling stock and six-ton engines. The wharf to be built on the coast is to be extended one thousand feet into the water where a depth of thirty feet will be secured-ample to accommodate any vessel which sails along the coast. One-third of the amount necessary to construct the road and wharf has been already promised and the rest will doubtless be forthcoming as soon as the stock books are opened. The project is in the hands of men who possess ample wealth and enterprise, and there is no room for a doubt of its completion. The Directors of the road are the same as the managers of the Centinela Colony. Their object, of course, is to improve the value of the property lying at the coast end of the line, which they will soon throw upon the market; but, at the same time they will accomplish a great good for Los Angeles and take an important step towards making our city the railroad center and metropolis of Southern California.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

To Yosemite in November-No. 2.

The close of my previous notes left us at the Italian's house, where there was warmth and good cheer and where we were served with excellent fare. In the morning we set out for 'Hite's Cove." In going there we passed over a long grade and when nearly to the bottom of the mountain we came to a ware house and then the road ends and a trail begins. After leaving Hite's Cove we followed a very steep trail up the mountains again for a long distance and then obtained a magnificent view. As we wound down the other side of this mountain, our whole attention was taken in looking at the scenery, listening to the birds and the waters of the Merced river below. Our trail lies along this river until we get into the valley. At times our narrow path winds around high bluffs hunroad. The ties are to be laid down six | dreds of feet high and the same below. It began to grow dark and we were getting hungry and tired. A comfortable hotel would at that moment have been more welcome than the great white cliffs that no doubt are very good. We knew the hotel was not far off and the stable man said the mule knew every step and would go straight to it. Strangely, we passed the toll-house without noticing it or and cheaply renewed. It is proposed being noticed, so great was our anxiety to get on. At last we reached the hotel, where we had an excellent supper, though a late one. The next morning I was up bright and early to explore the valley. I recognized all the prominent objects of interest at once, having seen numerous photographic views of them. There was "Sentinel Rock" above the hotel, the "Three Brothers" and the 'Yosemite Falls" opposite, and down the valley "El Capitan," "Three Graces," "Cathedral Rocks" and 'Three Sisters." I was dazzled with the beauty of the scene, it was so much grander than I had dreamed of. Following a branch of the Merced, we came to Mirror Lake, in whose waters are reflected "The South Dome," the grandest cliff of all, "Washington Column," "Mt. Watkins" and "Clouds Rest." Strangely, the reflections seemed grander than the originals owing, I suppose, to the fact that distances looking down seem greater than above us. We found a clumsy boat on the lake, nearly full of water; but and rowed up the lake some distance. A dog that followed us from the hotel swam after us, not liking to stay on Land Co-operative Association recent- the bank alone, though the water was will be a four-page paper with six col- current, which was quite swift. Returning to where the Merced branches, we visited Mr. Lemon's garden and obtained some fine apples, nearly every one of which weighed a pound, which he had laid by for the tourists of next Summer. It was late when we returned to the hotel. On the way we met some bright, healthy children that were raised in the valley. Before I returned I went to the foot of the falls to look up and try to

We knew the direction and trudged on, but every step brought us up to our waists in snow, and the mountains were steep. By spreading out our coats on the snow and moving on our hands and feet over it we managed to progress, though slowly; but we were paid for all our trouble in fine views from different points on the way. There was a pleasant gathering of Coming down was not so easy as we the snow. The view was ever changing as we descended.

In the afternoon I started on my homeward way. How I longed to stay longer! there were so many objects of rose and gave everything a strange appearance below. There seemed to be islands and trees away off in space and I came near stepping onto nothing several times. At last we reached a harbor of safety for the night. In the morning we passed a train of burros packed with eatables for persons in the valley. Each animal carries about 250 pounds. The mine near Hite's Cove is said to be rich. There is a tunnel here 1,500 feet long and an upright shaft 900 feet deep. These it has taken and up the Merced is passable two or three months earlier than any other one. I have wondered that it is not traveled more by tourists. After some trifling incidents on the way, I reached San Francisco safely, having been

The soil is an exceedingly ferfile loam, and is, without exception, the richest and most productive in Southern California. Its vicinity to the ocean insures a crop without irrigation. Excellent wheet has been raised for the last two years upon the hills adjoining the ocean. This wheat field contains 1,000 acres and covers the lightest soil upon the Rancho. There is no alkali or barren land. Semi-Tropical Fruits.

There are a few bearing orange and lime trees upon the Centinela, and the fruit they produce is of the largest and finest quality. There is an orchard containing 6,000 orange trees three years old, and 1,700 almond, lime and lemon trees will bear fruit in 1875. The orange trees will bear in five years. There are 7,000 three-year-old orange trees in the nursery near the orchard. Fig, pepper and gum trees grow without irrigation. The entire orchard can be taken care of by three men with six horses. The orchard will be kept undichard can be taken care of by three men with six horses. The orchard will be kept undivided by the company to save the expense of each shareholder having a few trees to take care of. Each share will entitle the owner to about 15 trees in the orchard and about the same number in the nursery. The almond, lime and lemon trees will yield an immediate return. In five years each orange tree will produce $20 per annum, or $300 per share for those now planted. There are flowers in the garden in bloom every day in the year.

Sheep. A flock of about 14,000 sheep will be kept undivided, to save expenses to the shareholders. This will give about thirty sheep to each share. The sheep will produce, in increase and wool, over $2 each yearly, over expenses. They will be grazed upon outlying and unsold lands of the company. The "no fence" law is in force in Los Angeles county.

Climate.

The climate of the Centinela is, without exception, the finest and most equable in the world. It varies but little throughout the year. The mean temperature is about 60 deg. The mercury falls but little below 60 deg. in Winter and rises but little above 60 deg. in Summer. You sleep under one pair of blankets and with your bed-room window open eyery night in the year.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 28, 1874.
WM. H. MARTIN, General Agent California Immigrant Union—Dear Sir:—I have just visited the "Centinela and Saucal Redonda" Rancho, and driven over the land described in your advertisement. With all my experience in the southern part of California, I have seen nothing to surpass this tract in fertility of soil, beauty of location, and advantage of easy access and salubrity of climate. For purposes of colonization, I know of no large body of land so near a growing commercial centre, in Cali-
